Key Takeaways

Asia Consultancy Group (ACG) is a primary agent and service provider for Active Optical Equipment in Afghanistan, partnering with Tejas Networks for DWDM/OTN and PTN solutions.

Key Agent and Supplier Information

Asia Consultancy Group (ACG) is a leading independent private company providing telecommunications infrastructure, managed services, and engineering support across Afghanistan.

AC

G operates as a full life-cycle managed network service provider, supplying, installing, and maintaining high-capacity optical networks. They have partnered with Tejas Networks to deploy 100G-600G DWDM/OTN and PTN products, including TJ1600 Metro and Long-haul DWDM/OTN systems and TJ1400 PTN products, to establish Afghanistan's national optical backbone and packet access network. Services provided by ACG include: Supply and installation of active optical equipment (DWDM, OTN, PTN) Network design, engineering, and integration Operation and maintenance of optical networks Technical support and training for local operators Procurement and Tender Opportunities For organizations or individuals seeking to procure Active Optical Equipment in Afghanistan, the following resources are useful: Afghanistan Tenders 2026: A centralized platform listing government and private tenders, RFPs, RFQs, and procurement notices, including telecommunications and optical network projects.

Direct engagement with ACG: As the authorized partner for Tejas Networks, ACG can provide quotations, technical specifications, and after-sales support for optical equipment.

Additional Considerations

Local presence: ACG has operational experience in Afghanistan and can navigate local regulatory and logistical requirements. Technical expertise: Their partnership with Tejas Networks ensures access to state-of-the-art optical networking technology suitable for high-capacity national backbones. Tender participation: Companies interested in supplying optical equipment can monitor platforms like TendersInfo for live procurement opportunities in Afghanistan.

In summary, Asia Consultancy Group (ACG) serves as the primary agent for Active Optical Equipment in Afghanistan, particularly for Tejas Networks products, and is the recommended point of contact for procurement, technical support, and network deployment projects.
