Key Takeaways

Custom export cable trays typically range around $2. 64 per unit on average, with prices varying based on material, size, and customization options.

Price Overview

The average export price for cable trays under HS Code 85369090 is approximately $2. 64 per unit, based on US Customs Department data. Prices can fluctuate depending on the material type (galvanized iron, mild steel, stainless steel, aluminum), tray configuration (perforated, ladder, solid bottom), and thickness (0.

8 mm to 2. 5 mm) offered by manufacturers. Custom sizes, modular designs, and additional accessories like bends, tees, and covers can increase the overall cost.

Material and Configuration Impact

Galvanized Iron (GI): Corrosion-resistant, suitable for industrial and commercial projects, typically mid-range in cost. Stainless Steel (SS 304/316): Higher durability and corrosion resistance, often used in specialized environments, priced higher than GI. Aluminum: Lightweight and corrosion-resistant, ideal for large-scale installations, moderately priced.

Tray Types: Ladder trays support heavy loads, perforated trays allow ventilation, and solid-bottom trays provide full protection; each type affects pricing.

Market Trends

The cable tray market is growing at a CAGR of 6. 2%, driven by industrial automation, data centers, and smart building projects. Prefabricated and modular systems are increasingly preferred for reduced installation time and labor costs, which can influence the total project cost.

Fluctuating raw material prices, especially steel and aluminum, also impact export pricing.

Export Considerations

Major Exporters: Over 2,600 exporters supply cable trays globally, with shipments tracked to multiple countries. Shipment Data: Export volumes and pricing vary by country, quantity, and shipping terms, with detailed trade intelligence available for competitive analysis. Customization: Many suppliers offer bespoke sizing, surface finishes (pre-galvanized, hot-dip galvanized, powder-coated), and compliance with international standards (IEC 61537, IS 14927) for export projects.

Summary

For custom export cable trays, expect a base price around $2. 64 per unit, with variations based on material, size, configuration, and additional accessories. Bulk orders, modular systems, and specialized finishes can increase costs, while market trends and raw material fluctuations may affect long-term pricing.
