Key Takeaways

Several East Asian manufacturers specialize in high-quality fiberglass and FRP/GRP gratings, which may include fiber optic grating applications depending on customization. Key Manufacturers and Suppliers1. Hebei Qinghui Plastic Products Co., Ltd. (China) Founded in 2021, Qinghui specializes in FRP molded gratings, pultruded profiles, and water treatment products.

Their team has over 10 years of experience in fiberglass production, offering custom solutions for industrial applications. 2. Ferrotech Far East Pte Ltd (Singapore) Established in 2016, Ferrotech Far East supplies FRP/GRP gratings, cable trays, and structural products.

They serve industries including oil & gas, power, desalination, and infrastructure projects across East Asia and globally. 3. Union Alloy (Singapore) Union Alloy provides chemical-resistant FRP/GRP molded and pultruded gratings, along with structural shapes and hand lay-up products.

Their facilities exceed 27,000 square meters, offering design, manufacturing, installation, and after-sales support. 4.

Aceon FR

P (Malaysia) Aceon manufactures pultruded and molded FRP/GRP gratings with high corrosion resistance and mechanical strength. They supply to Malaysia, Indonesia, Thailand, Vietnam, and other regions, serving industries like chemical processing, marine, oil & gas, power, and telecommunications. 5.

Indurotech Composites Pvt. Ltd. (India) Located near Madurai, Tamil Nadu, Indurotech specializes in FRP/GRP products and is ISO 9001 certified. They provide customized grating solutions for industrial and infrastructure applications.

Considerations for Fiber Optic Applications

While these manufacturers primarily produce structural and industrial gratings, many offer customized FRP solutions that could be adapted for fiber optic grating or photonics applications. When selecting a supplier, consider: Customization capabilities (size, resin type, mechanical properties) Corrosion and chemical resistance for specific environments Certifications such as ISO 9001 for quality assurance Regional support and logistics for East Asia and export markets Recommendation For fiber optic-specific gratings, it is advisable to contact these manufacturers directly to confirm whether they can produce gratings with the precise optical properties required.

Additionally, exploring specialized photonics or optical component manufacturers in China, Japan, and South Korea may yield suppliers focused on fiber optic gratings rather than general FRP gratings.
